The Reporter says that sixteen horses went to Boston on the boat from Gardiner Monday. C H Nelson of China shipping ten, having among them some very promising and fine blooded colts. Some thieves took a ride through Belgrade, last Tuesday night. They took a new harness from the barn of Mr Francis Crowell, and one that was as good as new from Chas Cowan's—a neighbor of his. About two miles from the last place, they called upon Hartwell White, taking a part of a harness from his barn that he had just bought and hung up the old part. Every one has kept their barns and stables locked since. Last week some young men were fishing in Penny Pond in Belgrade, and saw so they say, a box at the bottom. One of the number dove down, and states that he saw a box about six feet long and two feet wide, or about large enough to contain a corpse. Rumors connected the box with the disappearance of a man some twenty years ago who lived several miles from the pond. Sunday about two hundred people gathered at the pond and searched for the box long and patiently, but no box could be found and the people went away feeling that they had been well fooled.

The Bethel Savings Bank is in a healthy condition, with deposits of $94,780 41 and a surplus of $1,644 53 over all liabilities. Business is better than last year at Norway. Twenty one new houses are being built or have been built this season. The black birds are making sad havoc in the corn fields in North Paris and vicinity. J B Richardson has had a field of nearly two acres more than half destroyed by these birds with the aid of a few crows. The Democrat says An Aqueduct Association was formed in South Paris and ground was broken on Tuesday, to bring spring water from the hill near the house of Silas Maxim across the river and into the residences of members. The source of supply is sufficiently high to carry water to the top of the Methodist Church. The Democrat says Horace Knight, of school district No 1, is getting famous for his large oxen. His last pair he sold April 21st, they girted 8 feet and 8 feet 3 inches. Price $240. They were reported to dress 2990 lbs. His last pair before these were not quite so large and heavy, but sold when prices were higher for $260. He now has a pair of three years olds on hand which are hard to beat. He proposes to get them up to 9 feet if permitted to keep them long enough.

NEW MAGAZINES

Probably the most important feature of the July SCRIBNER (and one to be continued in the Midsummer Holiday number) is the reprint of the celebrated engravings, made several years ago by Mr Henry Marsh, for Harris's "Insects Injurious to Vegetation,"—a volume issued by the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture, and necessarily at such expense as to put it beyond the reach of the general public. Another illustrated paper is The American on the Stage. The author, Mr. J. B. Matthews, traces the rise and decline of the Stage Yankee and other types in the ...

personations of W ... Hill, Hackett, Chanfrau, Owens, Jefferson and others. The ranks of the writers of good short stories receive a new accession in Mrs Mary Hallock Foote, the artist, whose first printed effort in this line appears in this number. Her story, Friend Barton's Concern, deals with the Quakers and possesses the same attractiveness which distinguishes her drawings, two of which accompany it. For new readers of SCRIBNER an additional interest is lent to the concluding part of Madame Bonaparte's Letters from Europe by the publication of the Stuart portrait of the writer and her husband which were printed in SCRIBNER some years ago. The third paper of the Brazil series is devoted to An Indian Village on the Amazons, which is described in a clear and accurate manner from personal observation of the industries, home life, religious ceremonies and mental characteristics of the rarely visited people. Mr H ... text and Mr Champney's drawings explain and supplement each other together giving a complete idea of this interesting semi-civilization. Another illustrated paper is Mr W H Rideing's Trinity Parish (New York) with accounts of the unique charities of this celebrated corporation. The poetry is contributed by Austin Dobson, R H Stoddard, T W Parsons, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Henry S Cornell and Joel Benton.

A Republican State Convention

WILL BE HELD IN

NOROMBEGA HALL, BANGOR,

Thursday, June 26, 1879,

at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, and for transacting whatever business may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each city, town and plantation, and an additional delegate for every seventy five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1876 A majority fraction will be entitled to a delegate

The State Committee will be in session the evening preceding and at 9 o'clock the morning of the Convention, to receive the credentials of delegates

In selecting the Delegates the Republicans are urged to assemble in full numbers and to invoke the aid and co-operation of all voters who are willing to unite with them to the following ends

1 To maintain the power and prestige of the Union against all attempts to subvert or oppose its just authority and to insist that the Government of the United States shall be controlled by loyal men

2 To discountenance and reprobate the treasonable and revolutionary course of the Democrats in Congress, who threaten to cripple and destroy the functions of the Government if Constitutionally prevented from enacting their partisan measures into law

3 To uphold the right of the United States to enforce its own laws Wherever they are to operate, and to frown down and put down the dangerous heresy of the States Right secessionists who have already plunged the country into one bloody war, and who are now attempting to control the Government of the Union with the same measures that preceded the rebellion of 1861

4 To insist upon free elections—not only free from National military interference, which no one desires but also free from the interference and violence of so called State militia and the assassins who with deadly weapons have seized the polls in many of the Southern States, driving innocent and defenceless voters from the ballot-box and making a mockery of elections, which war upon free suffrage has been made a distinct political issue by every Democrat in the Senate and House voting against a measure designed to prevent and suppress it

5 To uphold the financial credit of the Government and to assure to the people of all sections a sound currency, equivalent to coin at all times and in all places, and redeemable in coin. And to resist to oppose all distracting, repudiating and mischievous efforts against the peace, welfare and industrial prosperity of the People

6 In these aims and purposes all citizens of Maine are invited to unite that the hands of the President and of the Republican minority in both branches of Congress may be strengthened in their efforts to uphold the honor of the Government and the just authority of National Law

By order of the Republican State Committee,

PER ORDER.

To day's Convention and its Candidate.

The great throng of arrivals in our city yesterday is plainly indicated that the Republican State Convention to assemble in Norombega Hall to-day will be one of the largest if not by far the largest political gatherings in the history of the State The personnel of the delegation, embracing as they do so unusual a number of the leading citizens of Maine, as fully indicates that the assemblage will be of a most imposing and influential character The duty to be performed is the selection of a candidate who will be a worthy standard bearer in a coming campaign, and whose selection will best harmonize, solidify and strengthen the Republican party throughout the State Dealing with the broader considerations involved we offer the following suggestions

The Republican party elected its first Governor in 1851 He was a resident of Kennebec County

In 1855 the candidate was from Kennebec County but was defeated

In 1856 the candidate was from Penobscot but the President of the Senate was chosen from Kennebec in order to take the Governor's chair six weeks after, when the Governor-elect resigned to take his seat in the U S Senate

In 1857 Kennebec County had the candidate

In 1858 Kenneben County had the candidate

In 1859 Kennebec County had the candidate.

In 1860 Penobscot County had the candidate

In 1861 Penobscot County had the candidate

In 1862 Somerset County had the candidate, nominated under Kennebec influences

In 1863 Kennebec had the candidate.

In 1864 Kennebec had the candidate.

In 1865 Kennebec had the candidate

In 1866 Cumberland had the candidate.

In 1867 Cumberland had the candidate

In 1868 Cumberland had the candidate.

In 1869 Cumberland had the candidate.

In 1870 Oxford had the candidate

In 1871 Oxford had the candidate

In 1872 Oxford had the candidate.

In 1873 Androscoggin had the candidate

In 1874 Androscoggin had the candidate.

In 1875 Kennebec had the candidate.

In 1876 Kennebec had the candidate.

In 1877 Kennebec had the candidate.

In 1878 Kennebec had the candidate.

In all these years six weeks of Governorship of Hannibal Hamlin and two years of Israel Washburn jr , are all that have ever been given East of the Kennebec.

On the Kennebec and West of it nearly twenty-three years have been given.

In twenty-five years the Republican candidate for Governor has been given to Kennebec and West of Kennebec twenty-two years

Kennebec County alone has had twelve years of Governorship in the persons of Anson P Morrill, Joseph H. Williams, Lot M Morrill, Samuel Cony and Selden Connor

We respectfully submit, gentlemen of the Republican State Convention, that anything in the pervading spirit of the address to suggest any doubt that the speaker meant just what the words implied.

We are glad that Gen. Chamberlain has felt called upon to disavow those sentiments, while we regret that he did not hasten to repudiate them before they attained such wide circulation in a commendatory report of his address. We never attributed to him the phases that he incloses with quotation marks in his letter, but commented on the words exactly as given in the report of his address, and as again quoted by us above.

As his card has been issued at a time when it will meet the eyes of hundreds of the representative Republicans of Maine, we have wished simply to show them the text upon which our strictures were based confident that they will deem the published report a full justification of our dissenting comment.

GENERAL CHAMBERLAIN'S LEWISTON ADDRESS.

We publish elsewhere a card from Gen. J. L. Chamberlain received at too late an hour last evening to admit of anything but hasty comment. In so far as it is a disavowal of the remarkable sentiments contained in the printed report of his Lewiston Memorial Address we are very glad to print it, although we could have done so more conveniently at another time than amid the pressure on the eve of a State Convention. As Gen Chamberlain now condemns the sentiments referred to as vigorously as we did in our strictures, we have no occasion to justify the views we expressed in our protest The only matter for us to treat is the justice of the construction we put upon his words. We understand the General to state that the report in the Lewiston Journal was printed from his notes, and on reading to him the extracts quoted by us he did not question the correctness of the report, but thought the words did not convey the meaning which to us seemed and seems the only possible purport We wish simply to show that our strictures were based upon the language reported, and that it did not seem to us to admit of any other construction than that we gave it. The address had been in type nearly a week and had attracted comment in other papers before we commented upon it in our issue of June 5 Since then we have repeatedly referred to the matter and it has been discussed in other papers. Without assuming a great deal for the publicity of our utterances we may certainly express some surprise that the General first learned of our comments on yesterday, especially in view of the fact that numerous copies were sent to prominent citizens of Brunswick, while our daily edition is mailed regularly to the Reading Room of Bowdoin College. But we wish to quote the language to which we objected that the public may judge whether our strictures were captious or unreasonable

Gen Chamberlain opened his address with citations of historic epitaphs and memorials to the valiant dead of other times and other lands, and the moving spirit of the cause for which they died Coming down to the 17th and 18th centuries he cited those who "fought for liberty" etc and said that "such were Hampden and Eliot and Pym in England in the 17th century Such were our fathers in the 18th " Then he referred in contrast to our war as follows

"But we were not fighting for personal or civil rights, for life, liberty, security in our possessions or pursuits and equality before the law What was it, then We were fighting for a purely political question, gentlemen"

He then passed to a discussion of the political question and after stating that we fought to compel the rebellious States to do their duty under the Constitution, to come back into Congress again "to take part in making laws and regulating the course of this people" etc , his language seemed to justify the action of the South in selecting only the most unrelenting rebels to "take part in making the laws," and to violently crushing out the political rights of loyal citizens in order to send a 'solid' phalanx of Confederate Brigadiers to Congress Here is that portion of the address

"Is it not folly, is it not babyish weakness to complain that the States are back again in Congress and that they have sent there such representatives as they must naturally chose? Did any rational man suppose it could be otherwise?"

We think that Gen Chamberlain once thought and said that it could and should be otherwise, that loyalty at the South should have some voice and that the emancipated race should be recognized as a part of the body politic But we quote further

"We send our best minds to Congress, of course, to manage the vital interests of the country. Why should not they send their best minds? If, gentlemen, we did not want the rebel generals there why did we remove their disabilities for? If we did not want the South to have an increased majority in the electoral vote and in Congress, why did we not think of that when by giving the enfranchised slave the ballot we thereby added to the Southern strength thirty five electoral and Representative votes? Whoever did that should not still give himself by whining about it or getting into a furor over it, and trying to make the people believe that great war has not settled something"

Without commenting upon the inaccuracy of statement in the above, we object to it emphatically as misstating the ground of Republican complaint, to which the speaker obviously referred, and ignoring the great fact that our protest is based upon the violent and fraudulent denial of the right of the enfranchised race to participate in the choice of Representatives assigned to them under the Constitution and laws

The next paragraph of the address was interpreted by so friendly a paper as the Boston Journal as suggesting that we ought to be willing to meet the Confederate Brigadiers in a dispassionate discussion of the question of State rights, etc — Then the General proceeded to cite another epitaph in these words

"There is another epitaph I have not yet spoken of which I have heard of within a day or two An old man in Virginia gathering up the remnant left him after the ravages of the war, and settling himself into the accepted situation, raised a simple monument on one side of which was inscribed

'To the sacred memory of my eldest son, who fell fighting for the Stars and Stripes'

On the other side it read

'To the sacred memory of my youngest son who fell fighting for the lost cause.'

On the third face of the stone and higher up were the words,

'God knows who was right'

Which of the boys was right? God indeed knows, and He alone Into men's motives, which constitute one essential element in the character of actions, men cannot see. Perhaps both were right, perhaps neither, perhaps one

Men cannot always be judged by their acts alone, nor even by their motives, but often for the manner in which they have used their judgments, and the light they might have had. 'With what judgment ye judge ye shall be judged.'"

In the next paragraph the speaker said "God knows, and He will remember all the blood noble souls have offered in the name of right," and added that "never can it be that the just cause and the unjust marshal what noble names they may in their support, shall stand in equal honor before God or man' never to the end of time." The idea presented seemed very plainly to be that "God knows" which was the just cause and that the unjust cause can never stand in equal honor before Him. But as "God knows and He alone" which was right, the reference to man in the paragraph seemed to be a confusion of rhetoric.

We have given above some of the salient portions of the address that we criticized, and we think every candid reader must admit that not only the general tone and tenor of the speech, but the literal expressions we have quoted, most fully warranted and justified our strictures We think that no one of the hundreds who read this article would have construed the language otherwise than we did, or would have found anything in the pervading spirit of the address to suggest any doubt that the speaker meant just what the words implied.

We are glad that Gen. Chamberlain has felt called upon to disavow those sentiments, while we regret that he did not hasten to repudiate them before they attained such wide circulation in a commendatory report of his address. We never attributed to him the phases that he incloses with quotation marks in his letter, but commented on the words exactly as given in the report of his address, and as again quoted by us above.

As his card has been issued at a time when it will meet the eyes of hundreds of the representative Republicans of Maine, we have wished simply to show them the text upon which our strictures were based confident that they will deem the published report a full justification of our dissenting comment.

REVIVING BUSINESS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

The money market continues easy, for it is known that the apparent decrease of $892,500 in the legal-tender reserve, and $191 575 in the surplus reserve, which was shown by the bank statement of Saturday, was due to the senseless method of reporting "averages" only. Treasury checks amounting to $3,000,000 were received near the end of the week in payment for called bonds, and the legal tender reserve was swelled by deposits of at least $3,000,000. Only one week from to-morrow payment of interest amounting to $18,000,000 will begin, and meanwhile the Treasury has given notice that it will redeem at once without rebate all the outstanding five-twenty bonds for which calls mature next week. Exports of specie during the past week have been small, also, only $24 750 in gold having gone abroad, with $285,475 in silver, and the specie reserve of the banks has increased $516,000 All the conditions thus favor continued ease and quiet in the money market, and a great increase in the accumulation of funds seeking employment

The volume of business continues very large for the season, not only here, but at all other chief cities except New Orleans. The exchanges at New York during three weeks of June, ending Saturday, were $1,379,873 832, an increase of 22 4 per cent. over the exchanges of the corresponding weeks last year. Yet the sales of stocks this year have been smaller by about 100,000 shares than they were during the three weeks of June, 1878. At Boston, the increase in exchanges has been about 21 per cent , at Philadelphia about 22 per cent , at Chicago about 33 per cent , at Milwaukee about 45 per cent , at Louisville about 40 per cent , and at Lowell about 30 per cent , with gains of less than 20 per cent. at all other cities except New Orleans, where the loss—about 15 per cent —has been due in part to the prevalence of the fever last Fall. It is especially encouraging to find that business is so prosperous at the manufacturing centres. The grain movement also continues extraordinarily large. During the four weeks ending June 17 the shipments of grain from the eight Western ports amounted to 21,673,677 bushels, against 18,071,678 bushels last year. While the shipments by Lake are smaller by 1,500,000 bushels than those of four weeks last year, the shipments by rail are larger by 5,100,000 bushels The exports of grain during the past eight weeks have exceeded those of the corresponding weeks last year by 3,262,940 bushels of wheat and 1,075,565 of corn

The prospects for large crops this Fall continue especially good, although some disquieting rumors have been circulated. A report that the cotton crop was greatly injured by drought is completely refuted by telegrams from the Southern cotton exchanges, which The Chronicle publishes. The acreage this year exceeds that of last year by 2 per cent, while the present condition is only 3 per cent below that of last year at this season But it is worthy of notice that the receipts from the last crop have already amounted to 4,414,610 bales, against 1,227 500 to date last year, and 4,041,523 in 1877-78, so that if the production this year should fall a little below that of last year, it may still greatly exceed the usual yield. The unanimous testimony of those who have recently returned from the Northwestern States is that the wheat crop promises to be an extraordinary one Corn does not promise so well, though there is yet time for a great change in its condition In some parts of the South there has been real injury from drought. The iron and coal industries are steadily improving, except as they are disturbed by two or three local and comparatively unimportant strikes in Pennsylvania, and the threatened strike at Fall River is still the only serious disturbance in the textile manufactures In fact, while professional workingmen in Congress and in political conventions are bawling about their sufferings and wrongs, the actual workingmen of the country are to-day more fully employed and at better wages, the purchasing power of money considered, than at any period since the disbandment of the armies at the close of the war.

A CARD FROM GEN. CHAMBERLAIN.

BANGOR, June 25, 1879.

To Editor Daily Whig and Courier

SIR Arriving in town this evening I am for the first time informed of your comments on my Memorial address in Lewiston and an echo to them in your issue of yesterday. I cannot procure a copy of your article, but I have the follow et before me.

It is hard to say what course should be pursued towards wilful perversion of the words of another. Your attack is made on a creature of your own fertile fancy. I never made any such statement as that attributed to me, viz: that "God only knows whether the Rebellion was right or wrong," or "which cause was right" Nothing I said could possibly be so construed, and I consider this charge so gross in its perversion that I must protest against it. No one who heard me, or who even reads the full report of what I said, could fail to see that the reverse of what is charged was the exact point of the passage referred to. I was speaking of epitaphs, and I took the one the Virginia father put above the names of his two sons, one of whom fell for the stars and stripes and one for the Lost Cause, "God only knows which of the boys was right." I took that as a text to illustrate the truth that "right" motives are not sufficient to make a right cause.

The best of men are sometimes enlisted in the worst of causes, and you know very well that men sometimes serve in the best of causes from the worst of motives.

Now my point was that while God alone can judge of individual motives, looking, as man cannot, into the heart, and he alone can judge of these two boys, yet the right cause and the wrong cause were as far apart as light and darkness, and as I said "never can stand in equal honor before God or man—never to the end of time."

I was addressing a body of men who did not need to be told which cause was right, and were far above the thought of asking me to tell them by name which cause I thought was right, after all that they and I had suffered and were suffering for the deliverance of this country. I could not so insult the intelligence of my comrades, nor feel that all my long services and repeated utterances had been so in vain, as to permit me to add the explanation that by the right cause I meant the Union cause so dear to us all, and whose victory we were commemorating in the victorious deaths of our fallen comrades.

The whole passage was so closely connected in thought that one portion of it cannot fairly be torn asunder from its place and bearing. The scope and culmination of it are so manifest, that you cannot fail to see that the effect and force of it are precisely the opposite from that which you ascribe.

It never occurred to me for a moment that anybody could mistake what I said, or be displeased with it, nor have I had occasion to think so from the circumstances. How was it that that vast audience of loyal people—nearly three thousand—soldiers and citizens—when they saw the drift and bearing of this very passage, caught the words from my lips in a burst of long and repeated applause, so that it culminated in their utterance of the sentiment rather than mine? And how was it that distinguished and leading members of the Republican party congratulated me for the sentiments and spirit of the address? And how came the Lewiston Journal to express its decided and repeated approval? and how is it that the Post of the Grand Army I addressed have since sent me a vote of thanks for the "able, eloquent and patriotic oration" on that occasion.

I dislike to say these things of myself, but your strictures seem to render it necessary for my vindication.

The Jackson (Miss.) Clarion is affright ed, and says: "If the rule of military supervision of Congressional elections is to be revived and put in force, it would be unsafe to alter the Constitution of Mississippi so as to hold the State and Congressional elections on the same day." Such supervision would interfere with the successful continuance of the Mississippi plan.

The Richmond (Va.) State says that if General Ewing is defeated in Ohio. the defeat will hurt the party as a whole by the mere fact of his nomination, and that if elected his election kills the party for 1880.

RATHER MIXED. Yesterday morning there was a running match at the Park between Messrs. Skillins and Greenleaf, the agreement being that the former should run a full mile while the latter was running three quarters of a mile. Greenleaf won the race very easily. The astute local of the Commercial was evidently rather mixed when he wrote the foll wing report of the race:

Much interest has been taken in the running match which was announced to come off at the Trotting Park in this city Wednesday morning. * * * The terms of the agreement were that Skillins should walk one mile to Greenleaf's three-quarters of a mile. The first mile Skillins gained about a sixteenth of a mile on Greenleaf but he saw it was impossible to win against such fearful odds and he gave it up and made the rest of the distance in slow time. Both are good runners.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY CASE.

Inhabitants of Greenfield, vs. Inhabitants of Camden. This is a pauper case, involving the question of settlement of the pauper to whom the supplies were furnished. Some very old records of the town of Camden are being used in this case.

Sewall & Brown. Gould & Simonton.

Augustus S. Philips vs. George D. Moor. This case is before the court on report. The plaintiff sold and delivered a certain lot of hay to defendent; that before it was taken away, the hay was burned, and defendant refusing to pay, this action was brought to recover the purchase price. Defendant denies the delivery, claiming the hay was simply negotiated for and the trade not fully completed.

Simpson. L. A. Barker.

Ira Weymouth vs. Penobscot Log Driving Co. This was an action to recover damages for not driving plaintiff's logs in the spring and summer of 1873. Defendants contend that the company are not legally liable for not driving the logs it being a mutual company and no obligation to do so being inferred by their charter, also that the proper notice required by the charter was omitted and the logs were not seasonably delivered. A verdict for plaintiff having been rendered the case has now been argued on motion for new trial and exceptions.

McCrillis & Varney. Paine.

Mills Patterson vs. Penobscot Log Driving Company. This was a similar action for a like cause, the logs never having been delivered at the place appointed or specified by the charter. Plaintiff claims that the defendants drive having passed the point where the charter provided for the logs to be delivered, before he could get them, that the defendants were in fault for not waiting, and therefore liable although after the drive had passed he left his own logs in the stream where they were. The question was submitted whether under this state of facts the action could be maintained.

McCrillis & Varney. Paine.

WALDO COUNTY CASE.

In the matter of the petition of William W. Castle, of Belfast, petitioner for an injunction against Axel Hayford, and others, returnable yesterday before the Supreme Court, the petitioner abandoned his case without a hearing.

President's Reception—Q. T. V. Society—Commencement Day Exercises—The Concert.

The President's reception on Tuesday evening was largely attended by both Orono people and visitors. The occasion was one of the pleasantest. A band concert on the lawn added much to the pleasure of the occasion. Among the distinguished guests were the Rev. Dr. Dike, Rev. Dr. Allen, Hon. Lyndon Oak, Hon. Luther S. Moore and Hon. Josiah Crosby.

The annual reunion of the Q. T. V. Society took place Tuesday evening at which time the following officers were installed: A. H. Brown, G. M.; F. B. Elliott, V. G. M.; C. T. Pease, M. C., H. W. Atwood, W. R.; M. J. Bartlett, G. of F., P. R. Patten, S. at A.

THE COMMENCEMENT CONCERT.

One of the finest musical entertainments ever given in this part of the State was that of the concert given at Orono last evening. A special train took up quite a large number of our citizens, who returned highly delighted, all agreeing that the concert was, at least, one of the best they ever attended, while many insisted that it was the best, without any qualification.— The fine hall was well filled with an appreciative audience, and the many choice selections given were received with marked expressions of approval, and a large number were encored. The programme opened with the overture to "If I were King," by the Mendelsohn Quintette Club, which was rendered finely. The glee, "Where the Bee Sucks" was charmingly rendered by Miss Gage, Miss Clark, Mr. Fessenden and Mr. Whitney, and in response to an encore they gave "Breathe Soft ye Winds." An exquisite concerto, for the flute by Edward Heindl was followed by the ballad, "Douglas, Tender and True," which was very sweetly sung by Miss Clark. Mr. Whitney in response to an encore of "I'm a Roamer," sung "The Mariner's Home is the Sea." A Fantasie for the violoncello by Ernst Schiener. A trio, "Break, Break," by Miss Gage, Mr. Fessenden and Mr. Whitney was so capitally rendered that an encore was demanded, and a portion was repeated. Mr. Fessenden next sung, "What are they to do?" and for an encore gave the "Star of Glengary." Mr. Thomas Ryan followed with one of his beautiful fantasies on the Clarinette, after which Miss Gage sung in the most faultless manner a Theme from Beethoven and a most lovely Waltz Song, which was rapturously encored, to which she responded with another exquisite selection, after which the programme was brought to a close with the Humorous Quartette "Humpty Dumpty." As this is Miss Gage's first appearance in this city our readers will be pleased to know that she has a voice of great purity and sweetness with much power, and at her first appearance won a position as a favorite with our musical public. The other artists are so well known here that they need no commendation, even did the pressure upon our columns allow us to bestow it. Suffice it to say that the entire programme was rendered unexceptionaly. The floral tributes to the artists were profuse and elaborate. We congratulate the students on their successful concert.

The following are the exercises for to-day:

THURSDAY—8 A. M., Examination of candidates for admission to the College; 2 P M., Class Day Exercises.

El Powell, Topsfield, aged 81; P. Bond, Jay, 81, A. M. Piper, Guilford, 78, D. Outhouse, Hodgdon, 66; D P. Bailey, Hebron, 78; Wm. Poole, Whitefield, 79, John Richardson, Auburn, 73, Jonathan F Page, Oswego, Ill., 80; H. Pierce, Skowhegan, 56; Amasa Bryant, Springvale, 52; A. W. Cummings, Weld, —.

Committees to report next year were appointed—Obituaries, Revs. H. C. Estes, I. Leland, G. B. Ilsley.

Arrangements, H. W. Tilden, F. T. Hazlewood, F. J. Bicknell, T. F. White.

Report on Foreign Missions was read by Rev. H. W. Tilden, of Augusta. It called for thanksgiving for the success of the work among the heathen the past year, expressed full confidence in the Missionary Union and pledged cooperation.

Rev. Dr. McKenzie, of Boston, spoke thrillingly of the gathering of eighteen thousand converts in our foreign fields during the last twelve months. Contributions from the State for the foreign work the past year have been $4558.15, of which $1703.78 have been from the women's societies.

Rev. F. H. Eveleth, of Toungoo, Burmah, spoke interestingly of the gloomy doctrines held by the Burmans and of the demands this makes upon American Baptists.

Report on Home Missions was read by Rev. J. McWhinnie of Portland. It commended the work of the American Baptist Home Mission Society among the destitute people of the West, the Indians, Freedmen, and the Catholics in our own State. Rev. Dr. Mason of Boston explained the work of the Society, making an earnest appeal in its behalf

Report on Publications was made by Rev F W. Ryder, of Rockport It made commendatory reference to the books of the Publication Society, the new Quarterly published at Cincinnati, the Missionary Magazine, Helping Hand, Home Mission Monthly, and Zion's Advocate Addresses were made specially commending several of these publications.

Report on Temperance was read by Rev. N. T. Dutton of Warren. It expressed sympathy with reform work, endorsed prohibition, and total abstinence, and condemned the use of tobacco and opium.

Report of Committee on Credentials was made by Rev. A. A. Smith, of Turner, showing 75 ministers, 32 laymen, and 6 visiting brethren present.

Rev. A. Snyder, of Wayne, made an appeal in behalf of his church which has recently suffered the loss of its meeting house by fire.

Vote of thanks to the churches of Bangor for kindness in entertaining the Convention, also to Railroad and Steamboat companies for reduction of fare, was passed.

The report on Sunday Schools, read by Rev. W. O. Ayer, of Skowhegan, recognized Sunday Schools as a means of preaching the gospel, and noticed, increasing interest in the work, recommended care in selecting teachers, and approved of Associational Conventions.

Augusta was fixed upon as the place of the next meeting, the preacher to be N. T. Dutton, of Warren, or W. H. Spencer, of Waterville.

Rev. W. O. Ayer, of Skowhegan, read a paper on the subject. To what extent is it the fault of our methods that so many of the converts in our churches fail to persevere? The essay urged that inquirers should be led to exercise faith in Christ alone and not trust to spurious "do and live" methods of salvation. Earnest addresses of like spirit were made by Revs. J. McWhinnie, of Portland, E. Nugent, of Norridgewock, J. H. Taylor, of No. Sedgwick, G. P. Mathews, of Thomaston.

The hand of welcome was then extended by the President of the Convention to brethren in the ministry coming into the State during the past year. Rev. H. W. Tilden, of Augusta, was appointed to report next year on the state of religion. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. V. Hanson, of Damariscotta. The session of the Convention closed with singing the hymn, "Must Jesus bear the cross alone."

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The Maine Baptist Education Society met at 2 o'clock, President W. T. Chase, of Lewiston, in the chair. Rev. A. J. Padelford, of Calais, offered prayer. Committees on various subjects were appointed. The Treasurer, Rev. S. P. Merrill, of Biddeford reported, showing the assets of the Society to be $5,438.56. Nearly $1000 were paid to students last year.

The report of the Board was read by Rev. H. Crocker, of Damariscotta. It gave an encouraging view of the work done the past year in rendering aid to meritorious students for the ministry, and made suggestions of a valuable character in regard to future efforts. Spirited addresses in reference to the interests the society is seeking to promote, were made by Revs. A. R. Crane, of East Winthrop and J. H. Taylor, of North Sedgwick, Prof. E. P. Gould, of Newton Theological Institution and others.

After excellent singing by the choir, Rev. I. Record, of Houlton, read the Scriptures and offered prayer. Rev. W. C. Barrows, of Rockland, then preached the educational sermon from Phil. 1:9. And this I pray that your love may abound, etc. The preacher discussed, 1st, the characteristics of this love, 2d, the sphere of its exercise.

Further addresses were make on the subject of Ministerial Education. Rev. W. T. Chase was appointed to preach next year, with Rev. F. W. Bakeman as Alternate.

Officers were elected as follows. President, Rev. J. McWhinnie; Vice President, Rev. A. R Crane, Recording Secretary, Rev. W. O. Ayer and a large board of Trustees.

Thursday at 6 A. M., a meeting for devotional exercises was held in the chapel, and at 8 A. M. the Conference met. A resolution was introduced on the question of changing the constitution, so as to allow a delegation of the pastor, or acting-pastor, and one delegate from each church in the State, instead of a delegation as now from each local conference. It was referred to a committee of one from each conference, to report next year.

Resolutions were introduced by Rev. N. Lincoln, from Union Conference. They were in reference to the use of tobacco, "as a filthy habit, injurious to health, and both sensual and selfish." They were adopted

THE RICH CALIFORNIA BANKER. When it became known that one of the richest California bankers had left the Pacific Coast and transferred his base of operations to the New York Stock Exchange, all the shrewd financiers watched his course with keen interest to see how he would succeed. The result has emphatically proved the wealthy banker's sagacity. Besides having a much wider and more promising field to operate in, he is known to have been in several stock combinations that paid immense profits. By the combination method of operating in stocks, Messrs. Lawrence & Co, Bankers, N. Y., unite orders of thousands of customers, in different sums, into one vast capital, and operate them as a mighty whole, dividing profits pro rata among shareholders every 30 days. Capital in any amount from $10 to $100,000 can be used with great success in these pools. $25 would pay $100 profit. $100 would make $5,000 or 10 per cent. on the stock during the month. Messrs, Lawrence & Co.'s new circular (mailed free) gives two unerring rules for success, and full particulars, so that any one can operate in stocks, and make money. Stocks and bonds wanted. ST. NICHOLAS, Scribner's Illustrated Magazine FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE.

Messrs SCRIBNER & Co, in 1873, began the publication of ST NICHOLAS, an Illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of OVER 50,000 COPIES.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideal of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after To-day ST NICHOLAS stands

Alone in the World of Books:

The New York Tribune has said of it "ST NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries" The London Literary World says "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press

Good Things for 1878--9.

"Half a Dozen Housekeepers,"

By Katharine D Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number, and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume There will also be a continued fairy tale called

"Rumpty Dudget's Tower,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks About the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor preserves a good humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophesy concerning the sixth, in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lore of "Jack in the Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter box" and "Riddle box"
